History of Popes

#240 – Blessed Pope Innocent XI - Pope from Sept. 21, 1676 – death, Aug. 12, 1689. Benedetto Odescalchi was born in Lombardy on May 16, 1611 to a family of the minor nobility. Educated by the Jesuits in his hometown, he went on to advanced studies in Rome and Naples. He served in multiple capacities under Pope Urban VIII, made cardinal-deacon by Innocent X and assigned to the Church of Sts. Cosmas & Damian. Innocent then sent Benedetto to Ferrara to tend to those afflicted by famine. He was Bishop of Novara from 1650-1656 where he used diocesan revenues solely to aid the poor and sick, before resigning his see to his brother, Giulio, & returning to Rome to serve in the Curia. Taking the name Innocent XI, he was elected pope unanimously by everyone except the French cardinals. His first act as pope was reining in the spending & lifestyle of the Curia. He was well-known for living modestly, so he expected the same of his brother bishops, clergy and laity. As pope, he ensured priests were well-educated and morally upright. He reformed several Roman monasteries, and exhorted Roman citizens to dress modestly and avoid the temptation to gamble. He reassembled the Holy League (a group of Catholic princes) to drive the Turks out of Vienna. Joining with the German Estates and King John III Sobieski of Poland, the pope's armies emerged victorious before moving on to Hungary, where they won the Siege of Belgrade in 1688. The King of France, Louis XIV, didn't like to submit to anyone, so he had little respect for the rights of the pope over the French Church. Louis assembled the French clergy in what would be the beginning of the heresy of Gallicanism – the belief that national customs override Rome's jurisdiction. Innocent condemned the meeting and refused to recognize any aspiring bishops who had attended. The division increased over two rival candidates for the See of Cologne when Innocent passed over Louis' candidate. Louis retaliated by taking Avignon, a papal territory. Though the conflict outlived Innocent, French ally King James II would soon be overthrown in England, thus ending Louis' ambitions and power in Europe. Widely renowned for his holiness, Innocent's cause for canonization was begun in 1714. Louis, who was still alive at the time, tried to derail it by falsely accusing Innocent of having aided the Jansenists. Though his cause was shelved for over two centuries, Innocent was beatified by Pope Pius XII in 1956. His feast day is August 2.

STEWARDSHIP THOUGHTS

In our Gospel today, Jesus gives us the gift of The Lord's Prayer. Prayer is a cornerstone of the Christian Life & as we reflect on Stewardship of Time, we need to be honest with ourselves about the amount of Time we spend each day in prayer & the quality of our prayer. Are we focused? Do we have a prayer space in our homes? Do we schedule prayer time each day? Do we use music, liturgical art, candles to help us? Do we have a mantra or phrase to say & repeat when our mind wanders? Do we take advantage of opportunities to join in prayer by going to daily Mass, being present for the rosary at daily Mass & Saturday evening Mass? Have we ever made a Holy Hour? Whether it's formal prayer like the perfect example Jesus gave us or informal prayer, let us seek time to converse with our Lord with open hearts & minds.
